One day last week Sen. Robert Taft said that his last remaining hurdle in the forthcoming presidential nomination conference is an argument from delegates that he (Taft) can't win.

That's a pretty watery defense for a presidential candidate to take and it carries some unsavory connotations.

It is almost unheard of in political circles for a candidate with designs on the highest governmental office to admit that his party's delegates carry such a pessimistic line of thinking.

The Republican Convention will start next Monday pitting Eisenhower against Taft as the feature attraction but with a handful of dark horses in the background. Taft lays claim to about half the 1026 delegates in spite of the "can't win pronouncement. Such a conflict of claims coming simultaneously in incongruous and must be born of Taft's better political sense giving him a peek into the political future and it frightened him. He has already threatened the nation with a determination "not to run again" if he fails to gain the presidency this time.

We hope we are not heaping more disillusionment on Mr. Taft's head when we state that we believe Mr. Taft won't get the nomination. If he doesn't, I think it will be partly due to his "cry-baby tactics."

Grove To Benifit By Coroner's Reorganization

Establishment of a Coroner's pathology and autopsy division, providing for the services of two pathologists and the continued use of a pathological laboratory, was announced this week by Coroner A. E. Gallagher.

The reorganization now in effect guarantees Lemon Grove and other San Diego residents the protection of one of the most complete pathological, toxicological and autopsy organizations in the country, Gallagher said.

The Coroner's pathological staff includes Dr. George Hartley, Jr., one of the nation's eminent Board pathologists and an expert in forensic pathology; Dr. James T. Weston, pathologists, and Dr. F. E. Toomey, a county autopsy surgeon since January 5, 1937. Previously the Coroner's autopsy staff consisted of three on-call autopsy surgeons.

Dr. Hartley will coordinate the medical activities of the Coroner's office and will give expert testimony in criminal or civil proceedings.

Dr. Weston will perform most of the autopsies and will make pathological examinations when necessary to determine the exact cause of death.

Dr. Toomey will continue his present duties and will also serve the Coroner's Department as a co-medical advisor.

Establishment of the program culminates months of planning by Gallagher, Chief Administration Officer T. M. Haagland, and the Board of Supervisors.

The Coroner's Department, as a result of the reorganization proposed by Gallagher and recommendations by the chief administrative office, is now comprised of three divisions including the Coroner's and Public Administrator's division.

Mr. Max Justice heads the Public Administrator's division as Chief Deputy and Christy Gregg is the Chief Deputy in charge of the Coroner's division.

Build Houses With Weather Controls

Building on the Pacific means reckoning with sea winds, Western sun, salt air, sand, fog, and ocean storms.

For wind control without cutting the view, try a glass fence. A house shaped like an L or U, if not faced properly, creates a windy pocket where sand is blown in over the roof. Duck walks around entrance areas aid sand control.

Investigating Group Given Job Details

In the most action accomplished yet to date, the Fact-finding Committee of the Lemon Grove Civic Investigating Organization, meeting Monday night, split up into five sub - committees of which members were assigned and actual assignments distributed.

It was announced at the committee meeting that the group intends to use all facets of investigating processes and procedure in order to throughly analyze every aspect of the four possibilities that are open to the Lemon Grove area regarding its future political status. These four alternatives being named as: incorporation, annexation to La Mesa, annexation to San Diego, remaining unincorporated.

With this principle as the guiding light, each of the five sub-committees are to "gather all pertinent data regarding each catagory within its group as each of the four alternatives would affect it", according to the committee policy.

John Dail, president of the group stated that each sub - committee being expected to use all sources of information at its command, will seek community support and aid in the form of hearings and other public activities.

The next date for the fact-finding committee meeting has been set for July 28, at which time all sub-committees are to report on action and results accomplished by them. At this time, no dates were available for publication of sub- committee meetings.

It is expected to utilize the knowledge of outside persons for advisory capacity throughout the investigation, according to Dail. These persons would be city, county, and state officials.

Members of the 5 committees are as follows;

Committee 1 Chairman, Mr. Mack Curl; members W. Richardson, Lee Thompson, Dan Apra, John Ellis.

Committee 2 Chairman, Mr. Elkins; members Mrs. Batchelder, and Col. James Prenn.

Committee 3 Chairman Mr. Netzley; members, Edwin Kinyon, Bud Stewart, Mrs. Meyer, Mrs. Amy Sonka, Mrs. John Ellis.

Committee 4 Chairman, Jim Pearce; members, Roy Davis, Luther Hussey (ex-officio), Ned Hutter, and Mr. Vaughan.

County To Get 2 Millions In Gas Tax Fund

San Diego County will receive an estimated $2,216,727 in gasoline tax funds during fiscal 1952-53, the state controller's office estimates. This will be used on county road systems.

Apart from gas tax money for county roads, San Diego and other cities receive" gasoline" money for budgeted projects approved by the State Division of Highways.

The county's motor vehicle license fee share estimated for the new year is $1,814,741, based on the 1950 countywide population of 556,808, which does not reflect the city's growth.

Distribution of First Aid Supplies to Start

More than $5,000,000 worth of medical and first aid supplies for disaster use will be distributed throughout California during the coming months by the State Office of Civil Defense.

Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, State Director of Civil Defense, has announced that warehousing facilities in Sacramento and Pomona are being stocked with an assortment of more than 80 different items of medical supplies and equipment. As soon as sufficient quantities of each item are on hand, be explained they will be utilized for redistribution around the state.

The stocks eventually will be placed in 883 first aid stations. These will be located in schools, city halls and other similar buildings not only in the critical target cities of Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland and San Diego, but in the inland counties as well. It was indicated that Lemon Grove would fit into the immediate picture.

In an emergency, these stations will be stocked from storage depots strategically scattered around the population centers of the state. Each firs aid station, when fully staffed will be equipped to handle about 500 casualties for a period of 24 hours.

New Tile Floors Need Special Care

Do tile floors need special more running colors, cracking, softening yellowing in tiles?

Asphalt, rubber, and cork floors compare favorably with wood in cost; all are resilient, durable and colorful. Their care is not difficult care than hardwood? What causes but means shifting to new methods. Never use an oil mop on tile floors. wash only occasionally with mild soap and lukewarm water. Use self polishing water base wax as others contain a solvent which will cause color running, pitting, and other serious conditions.

Youngsters Camping Project Enters 13th Year

Camp Mt. Cross in the Malibu mountains opened last week for the first contingent of 2000 youngsters who will vacation during July and August as the Salvation Army enters its 13th year of camping in the county road systems.

First of ten groups in the current summer schedule were 200 youthful musicians who will form the student body of the 1952 Salvation Army music institute directed by Ray Ogg, Salvationist composer - conductor and leader of the Los Angeles Tabernacle silver band.

Bob Stillwell, former Southern California football star will direct the program activities for the summer.

Other camping sessions:

Salvation Army Life Saving Sunbeams, July 8 to July 14; Salvation Army leadership institute, July 14 to July 20; Salvation Army Life Saving Guards, July 21 to July 26, to be followed by four periods for boys and girls, 8 to 16 years of age for which applications are being accepted; July 29 to August 5th; August 5th to August 11th; August 11 August 18th and August 19th to August 25th.

Program activities include swimming, hiking, athletics, music, drama crafts, citizenship, general recreational and campfire activities.

While many of the guests will receive campships covering the cost of their camping period at camp applications are being accepted for a limited number of those able to pay the weekly fee of $15.00 which includes transportation and insurance costs.

California Likes Its Salt

Those little salt shakers on California dining tables carry a big load — more than 63,000,000 pounds a year.

That's the amount of table salt that Californians sprinkle on their food annually, according to estimates of a firm that developed the fibre salt box with the aluminum pouring spout.

The container - making company's California estimate was based on a national average consumption of six pounds of table salt per person a year for seasoning. This is in addition to the salt already in food or added by canners and packers.

DENNIS ALFORD SWEEPS MODEL PLANE CONTEST

For the second straight year 9-year-old Dennis Alford of Encanto won the sweepstakes at the Southern California Model Contest, taking a first place, a second and two thirds in Los Angeles Saturday and Sunday.

Competing in the freshman division, he won the U-control precision stunt flying contest, took second in the hand-launched glider event, and picked up thirds in the half-A-free flight and unlimited rubber powered contests.

Chamber Meeting Productive – Greater Activity Forseen

One of the most active Chamber of Commerce meetings in recent months produced a multitude of developments that will have far reaching effects on Lemon Grove.

First off, they passed a resolution commending all those who contributed to the formation and administration of the Grove Fire Department which resulted the new low fire rates. The Kiwanis adopted a similar resolution the next day.

Mrs. McCrae, Lemon Grove's entry in the Women's Transcon Air Races attended the meeting to personally thank members and merchants for their assistance.

A Chamber delegation, headed by president Forrest Baxter and directors Beatrice Garber and Pesnette Vaughn made plans to attend a dinner for the race contestants at Newport Beach Wednesday.

A membership in the Highway 94 Association was voted. A Chamber delegate will attend all future meetings, Messrs. Sanders, Avri and Money represented the 94 group.

A liaison delegation to the Spring Valley Chamber to cement better intercommunity relationship was agreed upon. This was done at the request of the Valley organization.

Additional members for the membership committee were requested by Kenneth Rister. Greater participation in the Chamber is foreseen among local businessmen as a result.

A revised brochure on Lemon Grove has been produced and copies will be available for members for mailing purposes. They will also be displayed at the downtown Chamber office.

The flagpole behind the Lemon in George White plaza will now fly a flag. Joe Young, long time local resident has agreed to raise and lower the flag daily.

Grove Business Women's League in cooperation with the Chamber are formulating plans to improve the area north of Broadway and to increase business district parking area. A drain which both the railroad and county disclaim responsibility for, is holding up activity.

Dr. Donald Johnson a chamber representative to School District meetings reported on a recent citizens' unification meetings.

The seasonal year for reckoning of rain fall came to a close on June 30. Lemon Grove received a total of 21.33 inches of rain as compared with 18.16 inches reported by the Weather Bureau for San Diego. The Grove normally receives about twenty per cent more rain than the City. During the same period the higest temperature was reached on 5 August, - 97 degrees, with the 10 of July being the runner up at 96. The lowest temperature was recorded on 3 January at 30 degrees, and the next lowest was 32 on 9 December.

As for the past week, while the eastern and central states press kept headlining "HEAT WAVE" the Grove enjoyed its usual equable weather with sun shine every day and temperatures and humidities well within the comfort zone.

Marjohn's Opening "Great" They Say

"It was a complete success," is what Marjohn's said about their opening last week during which a prize drawing was held for six electric appliances. Marjohns in Lemon Grove's newest appliance companys and is located at 7971 Broadway.

"We evidently have been accepted by the community, for which we are grateful, the operators, Marjorie and John Dresbach said. "It's a friendly neighborhood and we've made many friends, they reported.

They announced the names of the prize winners for the appliances.

The Frichidaire was won by Mrs. V. A. Stevens, 3515 Olive Street. V. L. Pyle, 1130 Lemon Ave., El Cajon, won a Toastmaster, Mrs. M. L. Hatton, 8353 Lincoln took the Waffle-master. Eveline La Berge, 7936 Broadway drew the Coffeemaster, and Mr. Raymond R. Edwards, 2211 Sweetwater Rd., won a Mixmaster. The radio was taken by H. F. Crouch 7540 Madison.

New Building For L G Electric Shop Planned

Plans for a new building to house the Lemon Grove Electric Co. were announced here by Sterling Cato.

The new building, to be 25 x 70 will be erected between Luther Hussey's law building and Russell's Plumbing building.

The store will have an apartment overhead in which the Cato's reside. The plans have been drawn but the contractor has not be designated. The starting date has not been announced.

Grove Pilot Off On Transcon Race

85 women, one of them representing Lemon Grove, are off in the All - Women Transcontinental Air Race.

Isabelle McCrea, a Grove merchant's sponsored belle is flying a Beechcraft Bonanza over the 2700 mile course from Santa Ana, Calif. to Teterboro N. J.

At various stop - overs along the route, Mrs. McCrae will distribute folders supplied her by the Grove Chamber of Commerce. Enthusiastic support of local merchants made it unnecessary to tap the Chamber fund to see the Grove flyer through.

Of the 85 women in the race 12 of them are from the San Diego area. The competition is sponsored by the Ninety - Nines, Inc. an international organization of licensed women pilots.

Starting time is 11 a.m. Friday. Official finishing time is July 9 at 5 p.m. The first five to place in the race will share a $1750 purse.

Grant Hadley was asked to make preliminary arrangements concerning the Grove's entry into the North Park Toyland Parade and El Cajons Mother Goose Parade.

Mrs. Wesley Herbert spoke as a representative of the Lemon Grove Women's Club.

Who's Who in Lemon Grove

The twenty-six year old minister occupying the pulpit of the La Mesa Trinity Presbyterian Church is John R. Chandler.

This husky young man with sincere green eyes could fit well into any college's football backfield, and often that isn't entirely foreign to him because he earned what he laughingly calls the "reputation of conversion artist" during his school years.

"They called me out to kick the extra point after the better players made the touchdowns," he jokes. But I did get to play regular as guard during the high school days.

Reverend Chandler and his wife Geraldine live at 3222 Par Street in Brookside, near their church. His church, says he, is "the fastest growing Presbyterian Church in the country. Whats more, its the only church in the Presbytery to get its building before it was organized. When the La Mesa Country Club was available, Rev. Chandler, with quiet self confidence that has won him many friends since he came here in October 1951, set about to help acquire a building for a church. This one is strategically located between three communities he thought, and it lends itself to church adaptation without too much cost. The building was acquired and the church was organized in January 1952. His congregation has already reached the three hundred mark a remarkable growth, say Presbyterian officials.

The Chandlers enjoy sports but are presently decorating the nursery of their home. He enthusiastically recalls that it was their common interest in the outdoors that first brought them together.

Horoldine, a pert sportsminded miss was then a girl scout field director in Glendale. With her group of young charges in tow, she stopped, as any attractive miss might, to ask directions of a big, blond, husky, and handsome bulldozer driver. John at that time was just out of the Navy and was bulldozing his way through college.

A few days later their paths crossed again, this time at church, and now they were both lost. He sans grease and grime, and she sans the scout pack found out they had another common interest each other.

As a Naval Air Corps Cadet, John attended 6 different colleges. He was right in the middle of his V5 training when the war ended. His interest in flying remains, however. He has recently resumed flying and is near his solo stage in a friend's Cessna at Gillespie Field.

"My interest in flying has been kept partially alive by a friend who is in missionary work in Brazil. He flies to various missions which he could not otherwise reach. While I have no plans along this line I see no reason why modern ministers cannot use aircraft to advantage," Reverend Chandler said.

Recently he took up golf. He insists that ministers do not have the normal golfers reaction to a missed putt. We're a little more philosophical," he claims but his eyes twinkle when he says it.

There is a positive Chandler philosophy for the coming youngster. "We aren't starting with unusually high ideals for him. If he is destined to be a ditchdigger we only ask that he become a good one," John says.

What he is actually saying is that is how he has guided his own career.

Drastic new reductions in Lemon Grove insurance were assured this week as the Board of Fire Underwriters of the Pacific released revised ratings on buildings in the Lemon Grove Fire Protection District.

Reductions ranged from 54.3 per cent for contents of frame mercantile buildings to 23.9 per cent for contents of frame industrial buildings. Residential dwelling and contents were reduced 32 per cent.

"This is the end toward which we have been working since the District was first instituted," said Channing Mason, District Fire Commissioner. "We are gratified with the important reductions up and down the list."

"Generally speaking, homeowners have been paying $1.02 per $100 valuation for insurance. The reduction of 32 per cent brings it down to less than 70c. Our budget for operating the District last year was based on 41c per $100 valuation. The 32c savings means the average homeowner will be paying 9c for protection. Approximately 6c of this goes for reduction of the $35,000.00 Bond Issue.

"The rate in Lemon Grove is about 5c higher than La Mesa and about the same as some of the outlying districts in San Diego City," Mason said.

The new reductions will apply to new and renewal policies and becomes effective retroactively to June 1, 1952.

The new schedule is as follows:

Masonry buildings with mercantile occupancies, 40.2 per cent, contents 37.2 per cent.

Frame buildings with mercantile occupancies 54.3 per cent, contents 37.3 per cent.

Frame buildings classed as industrial and special 25.6 per cent, contents 23.9 per cent.

School buildings and contents 31.3 per cent.

Dwellings and contents 32.0.

The above are for average risks. Slight variations on dwellings depends on roof construction.

Provisions for a Fire Protection District were adopted in Lemon Grove in October 1949 and the District was formed November 21st, 1949.

Five Grove men made up the first committee under the sponsorship of the Chamber of Commerce. They were George B. White, deceased, Chris Ferguson, A. C. Anderson, Ted Haaf and V. E. Dues.

Following White's death, Jim Pearce, then president of the Chamber, was named chairman of the committee. Later V. J. Dorman and Col. Carlton C. Burgess aided in the program until the Board of Supervisors approved the District.

The first Commission was comprised of Chan Mason, V. E. Dues, and A. C. Anderson. Later Rev. Morris Mulkey and Harry Monell were named to replace Dues and Anderson. The Commission now is made up of Mason, Tom Parsons, hardwareman, and Paul Tilton, welding firm operator.

Meanwhile, a major saving will be affected in the Lemon Grove School District with it's nearly two million dollar assessable property valuation.

According to Byron Netzley, School District Superintendent, savings on fire insurance will be 50.78 per cent on the Monterey Heights School. Other schools will be only slightly less, partly because insurance expenditures have been budgeted over a long period so that a programmed protection plan could be followed.

The Vista La Mesa School is getting a 39.35 per cent reduction; the San Miguel School, 46.05 per cent and Lemon Grove Schools, both sites, 34.44 per cent. Average savings says Netzly, is 45 per cent.

As an illustration, says he, $2,000 will be saved on the five year policy for the new San Miguel School alone.

While these dramatic savings benifits taxpayers directly, all parents and children will get indirect benifits due to a larger portion of the educational dollar which can be alloted for the instructional program.

Most important, school officials point out, is that greater safety for the children is now available.

The Grove Fire Department, reports Mason, has received a National Rating of 7 which brings the cost on insurance down to the 70c per $100 assessed valuation level.

Much credit, says he, is due to the effort of the early commissioners, Rev. Morris Mulkey and grocery-man Harry Monell for their unselfish contribution.

Much credit too, he says, should go to Fire Chief Ray Carmody and the crew of fire fighters who kept the unit at highest efficiency.

One blue note was sounded by commission member Paul Tilton who warned that the rapid growth of the community might be instrumental in eventually increasing the tax, or else an upward adjustment of insurance rates might be forthcoming.

"It is sound reasoning to recognize the fact that the hundreds of new homes mean more fire plug installations and the spreading of the equipment a little thinner. This obviously means a higher rating unless protection can be kept up to the present high level."

Businessmen, at least one of whom could recall paying more than $4 per hundred assessed valuation, were the most jubilant. "We're getting to be a little metropolis," say they.

Next big step, most agree is the decision on corporation vs status quo.

Shepherd's Market Folding

Shepherd's Market on Broadway is going out of business. H. A. Bruels store owner said that he expected to close the place by July 10th.

Sheila said that he intends to devote more time to his home and yard upkeep at 4361 Gordon Way, La Mesa.

Dawdle Dell Corresponder

AUNT GEE-GEE MOPISH was tickled to titters when she heard a new doctor was moving to Dawdle Dell. She felt her heart, looked at her tongue in the mirror and rolled her eyeballs. "Mebbe he'll know some disease ole Doc Shakewell ain't heard of," she sighed hopefully. "They say them fellows fresh out of school has cooked up some wonderful afflictions."

Sure enough, the new doctor caught on like the measles in kindergarten. He took with Aunt Gee-Gee right away, found more things wrong with her in a week than Doc Shakewell had found in 20 years and pronounced her an emotional invalid. This delightful diagnosis drove her to her couch, from which she kept the party line hot proclaiming the new doctor's merits.

She spread his practice all over El Dorado county with her tongue. Aunt Gee-Gee is walking contagion — her tongue has spread more illness, complaint, malady, disorder, decline and collapse than any plague or virus to hit humanity. She carries in her mouth a dictionary of symptoms and is most generous in sharing them with anyone who'll listen to her. A visit from her is generally followed by a call upon the doctor, so vivid has been her description of her delicate health and her discernment of the same symptoms in her listeners.

"Honey," Aunt Gee-Gee would exclaim, languishing upon a neighbor's settee and fanning her severed forehead with a handkerchief, "he says I'M a hypochondriac."

But the new doc's head got too big for his stethescope. He began to presume that some of his most important patients were cured, while Doc Shakewell generally lets a disease drag along until the patient becomes bored with it and brings in another. Soon the new doc's practice began to dribble back to Doc Shakewell.

"I went back to Shakewell ween that young upstart told me my heart palpitations were caused by unmasticated onions," said Aunt Gee-Gee testily.

"Rumph!" grunted Doc Shakewell. "Cure all the sick people, will he? That smacks of socialized medicine!"

In Washington

THERE is little question that the lower house made a political football of the country's security in its cutting of the foreign aid moneys, and that the more responsible senate body was ready to remedy to a large extent the house action.

This is an election year, and many house members sought a chance here to show the taxpayers they were economy minded—they made speeches against communism, and at the same time tied the hands of the fighters against communism with their foreign aid bill slashes.

Senator Tom Connally, chairman of the senate foreign relations committe, exerted every possible effort to put the funds back into the emasculated bill.

The house also back-tracked on its action of last year, before the effective date, to save its own hide from income tax increases. Last year, the members eliminated their tax free feature, effective January 3, 1953. But on May 15, they agreed to a proposal to let congressmen deduct their Washington living costs from their income tax. This would save enough to make up for last year's action on the $2,500 tax free expense allowance. But the senate is not so sure. Probably most senators favor it, but want a limit so that $500 and $600-a-month apartments couldn't be written off.

With only 295 groups and organizations reporting as compared to 340 last year, total lobby expenditures for 1951 for influencing congress on legislation amounted to $9,488,099 according to a survey compiled by congressional Quarterly, a non-partisan reporting service. This sum compares to $10,303,000 spent in 1950.

But the top spender in the entire list was the American Farm Bureau Federation which replaced the American Medical Association as the biggest lobby. As a matter of fact, AMA dropped back to third place with the National Association of Electric Companies a close fourth.

According to the survey, the Farm Bureau Federation spent $1,595,815.74 for all purposes during the year while the Committee for Constitutional Government spent $772,967.59; the AMA spent $459,353.57, and the electric companies spent $434,325.91. Twenty-three organizations spent more than $100,000 according to their reports filed under the lobbying act.

It will be remembered that last year Dr. Albert A. Rumeley, who heads up the Committee for Constitutional Government, was found guilty of contempt of congress for refusal to turn over some books of his organization. However, on appeal, Dr. Rumeley was freed of the charges, the court holding that congress had no power to supoena certain material.

The U.S. Chamber of Commerce spent only $116,382.90 out of a reported income of $3,014,058.91. The Farm Bureau spending for "all purposes" increased sharply from its 1950 listing of $819,821.

With Senator Taft slightly in the lead on delegate strength over General Eisenhower at this writing, the split in the Republican party is reminiscent of the Taft-Roosevelt campaign of 40 years ago. Then as now, Taft—William Howard, father of the present Senator Robert A.—controlled the Republican party machinery. Theodore Roosevelt had been capturing the presidential primaries and the popular fancy of the people, but he failed to get the nomination in the convention of 1912. So badly was the party split that Roosevelt headed up a "Bull Moose" party as it's nominee against Taft on the regular Republican ticket, resulting in the election of Woodrow Wilson for his first term on the Democratic ticket.

Since this is an election year, despite the house defeat of a bill to increase old age benefits under the social security act, another attempt is being made to get the measure through before the congress adjourns for the conventions.

General Eisenhower is being censured in some circles for his announced approval of the tidelands bill, since the general is known to have the financial backing of powerful oil interests in Texas. President Truman has denounced the Tideland measure as robbery of the nation's resources "in broad daylight."

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Articles by David Lilienthal, ex-Tennessee Valley Authority head, ex-Atomic Energy Commission head, attacking the nation's anti-trust laws and business philosophy, cause some amusement in Washington.

It is recalled that although appointed to AEC for a five year term, Lilienthal resigned after Congressional investigation which included 24 public sessions, and 21 closed-door sessions.

C. W. Harder

Due to security, it is doubtful full facts of these hearings will ever be made public, but those that were made public did not boost the Lilienthal business abilities.

For example, the Hanford Plant, started on an estimated cost of $6 million actually cost $25 million. An AEC built junior high school started out to cost $1,785,000 finally wound up costing $3,980,000.

Other testimony indicated AEC played fast and loose with security regulations, bypassing the FBI to grant emergency clearances at secret plants.

There was undoubtedly great information leaks. Current Saturday Evening Post articles report how a British physicist gave Russia vital secrets.

It is held significant that Lilienthal, as the resigned head of AEC, emerges, despite his lack of private business experience, as tom-tom beater for destroying the nation's anti-trust laws.

Atom bombs have captured the headlines. Properly so, their details are guarded secrets, but commercial uses of atomic energy in the next few years will result in the greatest development since the application of power to machines.

Petroleum opened a whole new field of power. Control of the world oil supply is new in the hands of a very few. Atomic energy has opened a bigger field.

The development of atomic energy cost the U. S. taxpayers billions. Yet one or two of the biggest corporations in the country have been permitted in on the ground floor.

Hence Washington feeling current drive to abolish the anti-trust laws is paving way for a super-atomic energy monopoly.

The effect on the entire economy of not only the nation, but the world will be vast when atomic power is used for heating, transportation, and many other planned peacetime uses.

Today, the motorist cannot shop for gasoline. He finds gasoline price identical. Monopoly control of peacetime atomic energy will also eliminate all competition; force on the public non-competitive fixed prices.

This is one facet of background to seattle anti-trust laws that prohibit price fixing.

Further evidence piles up that there is no limit to degree a bureau will set itself up as a little super-government ruling by edict. The latest example is the Wage Stabilization Board.

Washington stationery stores have discussed summer Saturday closing. But first the Wage Stabilization Board must approve, because to work employees shorter hours at the same pay is equal to a pay increase, the bureaucrats argue. It is hard to reconcile this docile submission to petty official rubbing by a people who dumped taxed tea in the bay.

"I REMEMBER" BY THE OLD TIMERS

From P.F.C. William Adkins, 2nd Div., Korea: I remember when the country people of Stanford, Ky., didn't buy anything to eat. They just ate dried apples for breakfast, drank water for lunch and swelled up for supper. If prices keep going up, we will all be living that way again.

From Mrs. John Schaeberle, York, Pa.: I can remember when people went around with their arms in splints because their automobile had "kicked" them.

From Flora Dietrich, El Paso, Texas: I remember the ice cream socials when they made the custard from milk, eggs, sugar, lemon or vanilla flavoring and put the custard in a freezer. They put the freezer in a tub or cracked ice, salted—and you turned the crank until your arm seemed like it would fall off. Sure, the tables were all loaded with cake, all frosted too.

From Mary Karch, Lakeview, Ohio: I remember our two-wheeled cart—no back. We would drive to the country store over the hills and mud roads. I fell out backwards with a basket of eggs I was holding once. I know we didn't go on to the store that day.

From Casey Perkins, St. Louis: I remember "Little Egypt," a dancer at the St. Louis fair in 189[illegible]. I remember reading her promoter had her insured for $25,000 against hip dislocation. I don't believe she ever collected, although she dislocated her hips every time I saw her—they always snapped back in place when the show was over.

Sunday Sermon

THE BIBLE says that not even a cup of water given in God's name will go unrewarded. Every act of kindness is a gesture of transcendant worth.

There is a story told about a certain rich man which clearly illustrates how immeasurably great a single deed of love may be.

Warned that his end was not far off, the rich man ordered everything he owned to be sold and the proceeds to be used to buy a large diamond that he could hold in the hollow of his hand and carry with him even in death.

After his instructions had been carried out, the man fell into a deep sleep and dreamed he stood before the gates of Paradise. To his great dismay, he found he had lost the diamond.

He related his loss to an angel at the gate who told him not to worry, that one good deed on earth would be worth far more to him than any amount of diamonds. When he heard this, the man grew even more disturbed. He confessed that he had no memory of any kind act done by him while on earth.

"Not even one?" The angel prodded.

"Well, I think," said the man, after some reflection, "I once dried an orphan's tear."

The angel smiled and replied: "That tear is laid up here for you. Behold it! It sparkles ten times more brilliantly in our sight than all your earthly jewels."

The man woke up at this point, and he was so impressed by the dream that he gave orders to have the diamond sold and the money distributed among the poor. Not long afterwards, it is related, he died in great peace of soul.

a peek at THE STARS

BY LYN CONNELLY

THE NATION'S music moguls reportedly are sitting on the hottest campaign song since radios rocked with "Happy Days Are Here Again" as FDR was nominated 20 years ago . . . Like that song, this one is an old favorite and a bonanza for Eisenhower backers—"I Love the Sunshine of Your Smile" . . . Done in mach tempo, the tune is expected to hit juke boxes, radio and TV sets with the same "Happy Days" impact shortly before the GOP convention July 7 . . . Which just goes to show how every angle is exploited during a political campaign.

The Sportsmen Quartet, Jack Benny's "Hm-m-mm Boys," will be living out of trunks all summer as a result of personal appearances from San Diego to Seattle and from New Orleans to New York . . . Ginny Simms has packaged her own TV show and already has attracted the interest of one network . . . The TV films produced by the Protestant Broadcasting and Film Commission, in which puppets enact Bible stories, are being used widely in Sunday schools, too . . . They've been hailed by churchmen for bringing many youngsters to classes.

PLATTER CHATTER

COLUMBIA: — Frankie Laine's latest and one of his hottest discs is "That's How It Goes" with "Show in Lover's Lane" backing it . . . Champ Butler continues his swing up the ladder with another good waxing, "Two" and "Meet Me on the Corner" . . . The ever popular, beautiful "Oh, How I Miss You Tonight," is done in a haunting and appealing fashion by Sammy Kaye's orchestra . . . "You" backs it . . . The Mariners get into the revival act by coming up with a real old favorite, the beautiful "Jeannine I Dream of Lilac Time" with "One Love" on the flip side.

CAPITOL: — Hank Thompson comes up with a real tear-jerker in "Don't Make Me Cry Again" backed by "Waiting in the Lobby of Your Heart", a song that shows promise . . . Les Paul and wife Mary Ford continue their successful careers with two more revivals (where are they all coming from???) — "I'm Confessin'" and "Carioca".

ACROSS the DESK

THE EDITOR of the Lincoln Times, Lincolnton, N.C., had a few words to say about the recent 'panty raids' at a number of universities throughout the country. The editorial pretty well sums up the opinion of the matured people of the country:

"A series of 'panty raids' by male students on girls' dormitories, has broken out in some of the nation's major universities and colleges, including our own University of North Carolina.

"In some of the schools, the underwear-snatching became so violent that police and National Guardsmen had to be called in to maintain order.

"Who are the students taking part in this weird, senseless fad? Are some of them the young men that are so brilliant-minded that they are draft-exempt, while the less fortunate, 'less-intelligent' men continue to give up years of their lives to serve their country—maybe to lose their lives in some lonely hole like Korea?

"How many parents are proud now that their son is attending one of the schools involved in the wave of sex-madness? The parents who could not afford to send their boys to school, are and should be, proud that they have a man in the service of their country.

"Should these boys stay in college, stealing panties, while even married men continue to leave home in defense of their country?

"The Associated Press says the psychiatrists are blaming the raids on everything from sex to simple-mindness. These men are staying out of the army because they reputedly are so brilliant that they can serve their country better when they get a degree. Psychiatrists should know better than to call them simple-minded.

"If the college men are to anxious to make raids, why not let them do it in a corner of the world where their prey will be enemies of their country—the kind that can fight back—instead of the supposedly weaker sex—women."

...narchy at Its Worst

From the Bassett Journal, Bassett, Virginia:

"When the outbreak of students happens in foreign countries the cry goes up that communism is responsible, and perhaps it is, but when such things take place in America it is, of course, credited with a semblance of unruly youngsters. But what happened at Yale University, the supposed school of the 'elite', a few days ago, to our way of sizing it up, is neither communistic, nor is it class[illegible] under the heading of unruly students. In simple English it is nothing more nor less than anarchy of its basest sort, notwithstanding the claim that Yale is the alumnus of millions of America's honored citizens and their offspring.

"... It does not reflect credit to the more than 1,500 students who staged a riot because they were deprived of their source of ice cream for a couple of hours ... It is anarchy at its worst ..."

DALE CARNEGIE

AUTHOR OF "HOW TO STOP WORRYING AND START LIVING"

Conquer the Worry Habit

FINLEY McDONELL, Niagara Falls, Ont., says that during [illegible] years as a goaltender his first 11 years were filled with worry and fear. First, he would worry over the possibilities of injuries, of which he had received his share. He had seen many of the hockey players hurt seriously by high sticks, sharp skates, flying pucks, and above all uncalled-for body checks. Many of the players had received injuries for life. He would lie in bed at night worrying over the outcome of a game which he had to play the following night. When game time arrived, he would be so tired and nervous from worrying, and his initiative to play the game that was expected of him would be almost cut in two. Consequently, due to fear and worry, he lost many a game, the reason for which only he knew.

Carnegie

Suddenly there came an all-important playoff game and as all games were discussed between player and coach, he had heard from round-about circles that he was neither coach nor players' choice to play this game. He had accepted the inevitable, but when the time came to board the bus which was to take the team to its destination he found that he was the only goaltender aboard. That meant just one thing! He had to play.

He resolved to do the best he could and not worry. The game he played that night will live long in his memory even though they lost, because he had given his best, and from the results he had a chance to try out for a professional hockey club the following fall. From then on he just ceased to worry about any game and has eliminated most of his worries in his social life.

By conquering his worry habit, he feels better, sleeps better, and is able to enjoy life as it comes, instead of worrying about the future over which he has no control.

Food Sense—Not Nonsense

Do the claims of food supplement sellers frighten you? Are you annoyed by the scare techniques used to badger you into buying dietary supplements? Do you find it difficult to maintain an optimistic outlook about your health when nostrum peddlers would have you believe that most of the population is undernourished?

SEVEN BASIC FOOD GROUPS

Why not try some reasoning on your own initiative? Since surveys now indicate that 80 to 90 per cent of the urban population is well fed, can you still believe it is necessary to add artificial supplements to your diet? Doesn't it seem preposterous to do so when you realize that you spend a fourth of your net income on food?

Health is important and so are food budgets. Proper selection of foods relates directly to both health and the cost of eating. There is no substitute for a well-balanced diet, but it is possible to substitute less expensive foods for those usually used. The easiest way to check the adequacy of your diet is to compare the foods you eat with the seven basic food groups. If you eat foods from each of the following groups daily, a good diet is assured: green and yellow vegetables; oranges, tomatoes or grapefruit; potatoes and other vegetables and fruits; milk and milk products; meat, poultry, fish and eggs; bread, flour and cereals; and butter and fortified margarine.

It doesn't take a wizard to know that a wide variety of foods in a wide range of prices is found within these food groups. "Good buys" are foods that contribute a high percentage of food nutrients in relation to their cost.

With the enrichment of flour and bread over ten years ago, [illegible] of life became a protective food. Three of the much talked about B vitamins and the mineral iron have helped build a healthier nation. You may wonder why the B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, and iron have been added to your staff of life. Enrichment was recommended by nationally recognized nutrition authorities because early surveys showed a need for these nutrients among population groups. Bread and flour were selected to carry these added nutrients [illegible] that the majority of the people could benefit from the program without increasing their food costs. Many of the commonly used cereals are high in vitamin content too. The message on the label indicates the best buys among the grain foods.

Bread with a spread [illegible] a natural combination to include in your [illegible]. If the spread is a fatty food, the satisfaction value of the combination is increased. Butter and fortified margarine are commonly used fats. Butter makes a fine contribution of the nutrient vitamin A, and [illegible] fat, and both compare well in nutritive value.

Select your diet wisely, according to the seven basic food groups, and relax, you can easily be well nourished too!

SWAN SOLO . . . It's a big moment in the life of a one-day old baby swan on the water at San Antonio zoo, and for mama stretching her long neck to give baby encouragement in her solo swim.

FIREWORKS GALORE

Southern Security Title In Merger

Southern Title & Trust Company of San Diego was merged with Security Title Insurance Company, it was announced this week by Security's Executive Vice President James R Ford. Simultaniously with the announcement of the merger, it was revealed that the name of the parent company has been shortened from Security Title and Guarantee Company, to Security Title Insurance Company.

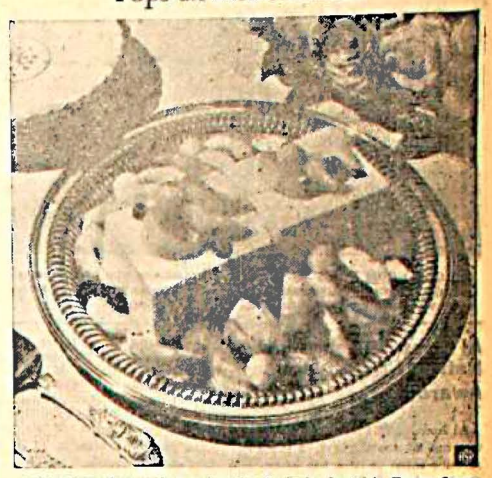
"This move," Ford said, "will in no way affect transactions in which Southern Title was engaged at the time of the merger, since our organization has been a subsidiary of Security Title for the past year. Henceforth, we will be known as Southern Title Branch of Security Title Insurance Company."

The San Diego firm will continue to provide title, trust, and escrow services in its building at 940 Third Avenue, "on the plaza", where it has been for the past 36 years.

Ford, who will continue to direct the activities of the San Diego office, disclosed that the merger, part of an overall program begun by Security last year, will bring to the Southern Title Branch the added strength of Security's financial reserves. It will, in addition, simplify the corporate structure of Security and enable all its 18 offices to operate under one name.

"Through this merger," stated Ford, "Southern Title has become part of one of the largest title insurance firms in the United States."

Ice Cream Plus Fruit Tops In Refreshment



This time of year, heavy desserts don't do the trick. Tangy flavor and cool foods are in order, and they're easy to achieve, too, if you use whatever fruit is most plentiful in your local markets, as the topping for pre-packaged ice cream.

An elegant dessert for eight, this appetising buffet platter is simple to arrange and serve, and simpler still to provide, since it means only buying two pints of pre-packaged ice cream when you do your marketing, keeping them in the handy paraffined cartons in the freezing compartment of your refrigerator until you're ready to put them on the table with their timely trimmings of sliced fruit, melon balls and berries.

Power of God Shown In Christian Science Lesson

The Sunday Lesson - Sermon on the subject of "God" in all Christian Science churches explains and illustrates how the understanding of his ever - presence blesses and heals mankind.

The Golden Text from Revelation (21:3) reads, "Behold, the tabernacle of God is with men, and he will dwell with them, and they shall be his people, and God himself shall be with them, and be their God."

Cerebral Palsy Understanding Asked

with cerebral palsy are still hidden from sight by parents or committed to institutions for the feeble minded, because of a lack of information on the subject, family pride or misunderstanding.

According to the U. S. Children's Bureau, generally speaking, there are several different kinds of muscular involvement referred to; (1) spasticity, in which muscles are contracted and tense; (2) anthetosis a condition characterized by constant involuntary motion; and, ataxia the individuals lack of balance and coordination.

In regard to the intelligence of the cebebral palsied, one must remember that these children have been handicapped since birth; they do not have a chance to form primary action patterns like normal children. However, many cerebral palsied children have shown a surprising capacity for improvement in the hands of trained therapists.

Orange Fair Lists Young People's Events

Young people and their activities will be given the spotlight at the 1952 Orange County Fair set for Aug. 13 - 17, inclusive, at fairgrounds located on former Santa Ana Army Air Base between here and Newport Beach.

The Orange County Fair's junior department and livestock show, considered one of the finest in the state, is this year expected to break the 1951 record when 891 junior exhibitors made 1789 entries to win a total of $6,185.250 in premium awards.

New exhibit buildings and livestock barns will provide for increased F.F.A. and 4-H Club entries. A new division for junior amateurs has been added to the fair's big flower show.

Special attractions in the youth department will be the junior horse show on opening day, the livestock auction on Friday evening, and the extensive school exhibits displayed in a model school house. The Boy Scouts of America will also participate.

Closing date for both junior and senior exhibit entries has been set for July 28.

Grove Man Gets On Fish Derby List

First list of top qualifiers in the Sixth Annual Yellowtail Fishing Derby was released by the S. D. Junior Chamber.

Only one Grove fisherman was listed. John Van Gilse, Grove Theater operator was 33rd, on the list of 50 having weighed in a 31 pound, 8 ounce yellowtail.

The leader, John Girtz of San Diego registered a 48 pound 12 ounce fish.

Had Van's fish weighed one more pound he would have been among the first 20 so slight is the difference between the runners up.

The California Bear Reports

Fires during past week	23
Fires this season	198
Acres burned to date	143
Structural damage	$53,890

Howdy Folks:

Did you ever hear of a bear writing a newspaper column? I guess it's a bit out of the ordinary, but if it will help cut down the number of fires in San Diego County, I'm glad to make a try at it. Most of you are probably aware that I've been closely associated with preventing fires in our forests for several years, and because of that, the editor of your newspaper asked me to give him a weekly report on the fires that have occured in the county. That's the purpose of that box score above. I hope you will watch it each week.

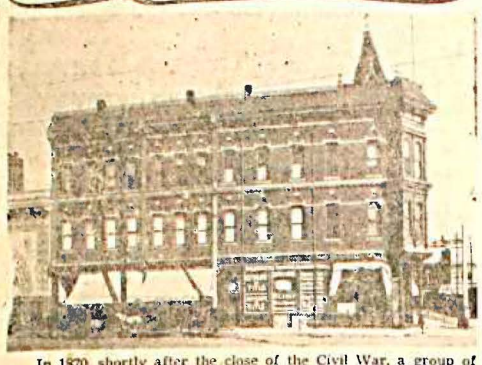
Also I have been asked to give a brief account of the fires: where they were, what caused them, and any other information that might be available.

For instance, one of those fires last week was up in the Agua Tibia area, near Pala. It only burned about an acre and a half, but the Forestry boys tell me it was caused by a careless smoker. Fortunately weather conditions were favorable and the blaze was held to a minimum, but I will bet the fellow who was careless wouldn't be proud for his friends to know that he was responcible for what might have been a serious fire. Let me remind you to always use that ash tray in your car instead of throwing the butts out of the window.

The California Division of Forestry and the U. S. Forest Service have agreed to furnish me with accurate fire information, and if all of you will cooperate, maybe we can get through this year with as few fires as we had last year. It was almost a record.

SAN DIEGO COUNTY HISTORICAL SCRAPBOOK

Compiled from the historical records of UNION TITLE INSURANCE AND TRUST COMPANY • SAN DIEGO



In 1870, shortly after the close of the Civil War, a group of church leaders met to formally organize the Methodist Church in San Diego. On land donated by Alonzo Horton, the city's first Methodist church was built on the northeast corner of Fourth and Broadway. Seven years later, in 1877, the original wooden building was replaced with a handsome brick structure, shown here in a 1906 photograph from the historical collection of Union Title Insurance and Trust Company.

This three-story building served both as a church and as a business investment. The upper floors were used as a public meeting hall, as well as for church services and Sunday school; the street floor housed various offices and businesses.

By 1905 the congregation had outgrown these quarters and a new church was constructed on the corner of 9th and C. Remodeled and streamlined in the past few years, this church still stands.

The brick building shown here was torn down in 1907 to make way for the Owl Drug Company building, presently occupying this corner.

Four Outstanding Vocalists To Appear On Telephone Hour In July

Four outstanding vocalists will be spotlighted on the Telephone Hour during the month of July, it was announced this week by Sidney S. Campbell, manager of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company. The program is heard over NBC stations (KFI Los Angeles and KSFD San Diego) Monday evenings at nine o' clock.

Baritone Igor Gorin heads the list of July artists, offering "The Hills of Home" by Fox on the July 7 broadcast. Other selections he has chosen include Mattei's "Non e Ver" and Vision Fugitive" from the opera "Herodiade" by Massenet.

On July 14, coloratura soprano Barbara Gibson will sing Delibes' concert number "Les Filles de Cadiz," Caro Nome" from Verdi's "Rigoletto," and two traditional airs arranged by Siegmeister.

One of the leading young tenors of the Metropolitan Opera, Brian Sullivan, will make his Telephone Hour debut on the July 21 broadcast. He has chosen as selections he "Flower Song" from Bizet's opera "Carmen," Victor Herbert's "Neopolitan Love Song" from the operetta "Princess Pat" and Lehmann's "Ah! Moon of My Delight" from "In a Perrsian Garden."

In his third Telephone Hour appearance this year, basso Ezio Pinza will sing the Overture to Rossini's "The Barber of Seville," Tosti's "Serenta," and "Within These Holy Portals" from Mozart's "The Magic Flute."

Donald Vorhees will conduct the Bell Telephone orchestra for accomplishment and in instrumental selections on the programs.

The manager reminded listeners that all programs are subject to change.

Civil Defense Stocks for Disaster

MORE THAN $5,000,000 WORTH of medical supplies and equipment are being warehoused by the State Office of Civil Defense in Sacramento and Los Angeles for use in event of enemy attack or other disaster. Among the supplies, which ultimately will be distributed throughout the State, are 378,000 vacuum blood bottles for emergency blood transfusions. Shown above checking on a recent shipment of 54,000 bottles are (left to right) Brig. Gen. William R. Woodward, Assistant Director; Frank V. Jones, Jr., Assistant Chief, Medical and Health Services, and James Annand, Chief, Division of Supply, all of the State Office of Civil Defense.

Rent Tops A Must In National Defense

Congress would deal a "knock-out blow" to the overall stabilization effort if it considers any proposal to limit or repeal its rent provisions, Tighe E. Woods, Director of Rent Stabilization, told the House Banking and Currency Committee. He appeared in support of HR6546 which seeks extension of the rent program for two years beyond June 30.

"In this mobilization effort there have been and will be sudden and unforseeable shifts of population as defense plants and military installations are opened or reactivated," Woods declared.

"Unfortunately, housing is not a commodity that can be shifted to trouble spots. The Housing and Rent Act protects defense workers and the military from unscrupulous rent gougers and stabilizes rents while the housing supply is catching up.

"At the same time, the Act also protects tenants from unwarrented rent increases in other communities which, while they do not qualify for the critical area designation, still have a serious housing shortage."

JULY TRAFFIC DANGEROUS SAYS PATROL

The California Highway Patrol reminded motorists today that speeding often brings much more tragic results than just the inconvenience of a traffic ticket.

As an illustration, Patrol officials said that during June last year, almost half of California's 239 fatal accidents, which killed 266 persons, involved speed violations.

In the same month, more than 1100 speed violations figured in 5000 other accidents which left 8000 person injured, some permanently.

While many deaths and injuries were not directly attributed to speed violantions, they were due, at least partly, to what the patrol described as "the urge to get there faster."

That urge leads drivers to pass on hills and curves, to disregard right of way rules, or to ignore warning signs, forcing them into death dealing head on or broadside collisions even though their speed is not excessive.

The Patrol said June poses special hazards for motorists because of heavy vacation travel and thousands of children who spend more time playing in the streets now that school is out.

"It's obvious that traffic accidents happen because drivers can't stop in time," said the patrol. "It should be just as obvious, although to many Californian's it apparently is not, that a motorists who drives at safe speeds, speeds at which he knows he'll have control over his car in emergency, rarely has traffic troubles.

Capone Got Tax Lift Williams Charges

Senator John J. Williams (R., Del.) charged last week that the Administration allowed the late "Scareface" Al Capone and other big-time Chicago gamblers and racketeers to escape paying income and other taxes totaling almost $1,000,000.

Williams cited three specific cases to determine the "accuracy or inaccuracy" of charges that the Internal Revenue Bureau and the Justice Department were more liberal to gamblers and racketeers than with the average taxpayers.

He told the Senate the three cases involved:

1. Ralph Capone, a relative of the notorious "scarface" Al and "one of the Nation's most prominent racketeers." Williams said Capone owes the government $92,914 in unpaid taxes and penalties on his income from 1922 to 1938, but so far has not paid any of it.

2. John "Greasy Thumb" Guzik, who was permitted to settle a $892,000 tax claim on income from 1924 through 1928 and in 1936 for $100,000 or about 11 cents o

3. Al Fusco and other Chicago operators who were allowed to settle a $119,367 claim in unpaid beer taxes for $30,000.

"These cases are offered," he said, "as further examples of the manner in which the New Deal Administration has been 'enforcing' the tax laws against some of the Nation's most prominent racketeers as compared to the treatment they have been giving to other taxpayers."

Raised Gas Tax Resistance Indicated

There will be strong resistance to any move to raise the state gasoline tax before other measures to improve the state's roads are sought, Assemblyman Frank Luckel told the Highway Development Association this week. He shared the platform with Assemblyman Ralph R. Cloyed, who outlined methods of dividing the 4½ cent a gallon state tax.

Luckel said that items outside road construction are now being charged to gas tax funds, such as landscaping, lighting and police and fire protection.

While there is a claim of a three billion dolar highway backlog, the gas tax is now bringing in a record total "twice as much as a few years ago," said Luckel.

He suggested exploring bond issues, toll roads and a bigger share of the two cent a gallon federal gas tax that is collected from California motorists. The association heard a report that the state gets back only 80 cents out of each federal gas tax dollar collected from California motorists.

Cloyed said counties get one and three eighth cents out of the state gas tax on each gallon cities five-eighths of a cent and the state two and a half cents. Half of the state's share is allocated 55 percent for use in southern counties and 45 percent for northern ones. The other half is allocated at the discretion of the State Highway Commission.

Easier Bedmaking . . . More Restful Sleep

Now it has been proven that homemakers can save time and effort in bedmaking by the use of fitted sheets. In a time study conducted by the Cannon Homemaking Institute, it took about 33 seconds to put a fitted sheet on a mattress as compared to 64 seconds with a flat sheet. The fitted sheet required no spreading, smoothing, tucking; no corners to make and no wasted steps. It required walking around the bed but once. The fitted sheet was merely laid on the mattress, then the corners were fitted into place, and the work was done. On the other hand, the flat sheet had to be centered, smoothed, the corners mitered and the sides tucked in.

What's more, the fitted sheet assured more restful sleep, for it stayed snug and taut through a full night's sleep. Anyone who has suffered sleeplessness on hot, stifling night because a sheet became loose and wrinkled will appreciate that factor.

Another time saving feature is that fitted sheets need no ironing, for once spread tightly over the mattress, all laundering wrinkles disappear. Pre-shrunk, they retain their fit no matter how often they are laundered. In fact, the sheet adjusts to slight variations in the mattress thickness.

State Boosts Pay Of Lower Level Engineering Jobs

A double - barreled salary increase for the lower level jobs in th State of California's engineering operations went into effect July 1, the State Personnel Board said today.

With a heavy program of building and highway construction ahead, the state can use large numbers of young men below professional engineer rank but who have some skilled technical experience.

New salary ranges for some of these positions are:

Senior engineering aid, $310 - $376; junior engineering aid, $255 - $310; under engineering aid, $231 - $281; senior drafting aid, $310 - $376; junior drafting aid, $255 - $310; under drafting aid, $231 - $281.

Hydrographic aid, $295 - $358; junior geological draftsman, $255-$310; mining geologic aid $281 - $341.

Civil service examinations in all these fields are held from time to time. Temporary appointments pending examination are often available for people wanting immediate employment.

State To Raise Pay Of Hospital Trainees July 1

Starting salaries for men and women who enter training for work in California's mental hospitals will go up from $180 to $200 a month on July 1, the State Personnel Board said today.

A raise after six months' training will continue.

The Department of Mental Hygiene hopes the new scale will attract a large number of qualified trainees to the State's eleven mental institutions.

After a year of combined work and training, the beginners are expected to qualify as psychiatric technicians at a salary range of $200 to $268 a month. The technicians have direct charge of some 40,000 patients under the supervision of physicians and nurses.

Salary action taken by the personnel board also has resulted in higher pay July 1 for he beginning medical classes in the state hospital. Physician and Surgeon I will pay $613 to $676 and Psychiatrists I will pay $644 to $710.

Boost Don't Knock Says Poem

Boost your city, boost your friend,
Boost the meetings you attend,
Boost the street on which you're dwelling,
Boost the goods that you are selling,
Boost the people 'round you,

"Operation Leaflet" Is Civil Defense Progarm

"If this were the A-bomb - would it be your fault?"

This question was asked by the United States Air Force of residents of central California by means of a leaflet drop staged to stimulate recruitment of Civil Defense workers in filter centers in those cities.

During the flight of a B-29 bomber on "Operation Leaflet", nearly 1,000,000 circulars were dropped over target cities. The flight furnishes the material for this week's statewide radio broadcast of the State Office of Civil Defense.

An appeal is made for additional volunteers to man filter center operations and also to staff ground observer posts, which begin 24 hour duty July 14, in all areas of California. Both are detecting hostile aircraft.

Volunteers to serve in either ground observers posts or in filter centers may enroll with their local Civil Defense organization.

School Faculty Picnic Draws 200

Approximately 200 people attended the faculty picnic at El Monte Park on Saturday afternoon and evening, given the present executive boards of the Lemon Grove School PTA, the San Miguel PTA, and the Golden Avenue PTA, along with the 1951-52 executive board of the Lemon Grove School PTA. Honored guests were members of the three school's faculty, office personnel, and other employees, with their families.

Mrs. Harry R. Alexander was general chairman of the picnic. Board members from all three schools aided her in the planning and preparation for this annual spring outing. A delicious dinner of spaghetti, salad, cupcakes, coffee, or lemonade was served. Mrs. Ruth Pfister and Wm. Burgreen prepared the spaghetti which was purchased in part by funds raised by Mrs. R. C. Taylor, room representative chairman durinng this past school year. This money was secured through the sale of cakes, pies, and other desserts remaining after PTA meetings during the year.

Canned Citrus Good Travelers

Mapping out a pleasant trip entails thought for snacks and refreshment that won't cost too much and are good travelers. Long refreshing drinks of nutritious fruit juice that can be enjoyed en route help Mother and Dad and the children too, to avoid getting overly tired and irritable. Best buys in this direction are the various canned Florida citrus juices—plenty of choice to suit every taste—sweet orange juice or tangerine juice, the tart grapefruit juice or blended orange and grapefruit juice. Prices of all these nutritious, delicious juices are news these days—they're 20 per cent lower than they were a year ago!

An easy way to be sure of chilled beverages en route is to tote a thermos filled with cracked ice or ice cubes. When someone is thirsty, simply drain off whatever water may have accumulated from the cubes, puncture the top of your convenient can of citrus juice, pour the juice into the cold thermos and in a twinkling it will be properly chilled for the best relief yet from the heat.

Daill's To Close July 15th

Daill's Drive - in Home Furnishings will have the store in readiness for the new operators by July 15th, as scheduled, Jack Daill said this week.

McMahan's Furniture plans to take over the location in the middle of the month. Until then Daill's will be open daily for servicing accounts and selling merchandise.

20c Matinees Back At Lemon Grove

Regular summer Tuesday matinees at the Grove Theater are under way again it was announced this week by John Van Gilse, theater operator.

Shows will start promptly at 1:30 each Tuesday afternoon and all seats, childrens and adults, are 20c. A double bill will be the attractions each week.

Mrs. Hagan Passes

Mrs. Dorothy Y. Hagan, 49, of 2402 Bancroft Dr., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis of Lemon Grove died in a San Diego hospital Saturday night after a long illness. A native of Long Beach, she had lived here 25 years. Mrs. Hagan is survived by her husband, Raymond Hagan; their son, Marshall Hagan, and daughter Kathleen Hagan, and Mrs. Hagan's parents, Edward and Alma Lewis. Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Eleanor Payden, of Spring Valley; two brothers Irving Lewis, of Spring Valley, and Donald Lewis, of Lemon Grove. Services will be at 10 a.m. Wednesday at Erickson - Anderson Mortuary Chapel, with cremation to follow.

Pacific Telephone To Move Business Office Operations In La Mesa

Business office operation of Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company will open Monday, July 14 in temporary quarters located in the old fire house at 4724 Nebo Street, La Mesa manager Sidney S. Campbell announced this week.

Campbell said the business office move is designed to provide floor space in the central office building at 8270 Lemon Avenue for the installation of more dial switching equipment to serve waiting applicants for new telephones.

Th present business office quarters in the Lemon Avenue office will be torn down, he stated, and a new building addition erected to house the added dial equipment at a cost of nearly $650,000.

Campbell said the move was originally scheduled for late this year when new business office quarters on La Mesa Boulevard near the corner of Rosehedge Drive would be completed, but this would have meant a delay of 6 to 8 months in the installation of the needed switching equipment to care for the exchange's growing list of applicants waiting for service. The solution, Campbell said, was by the immediate vacating of the present quarters so that construction of the new addition could get under way as quickly as possible.

Local telephone business office representatives were overwhelmingly in favor of the immediate move to temporary quarters so that the construction work could start without delay, the manager said. Construction forces are scheduled to start raising the present business office structure shortly after the move.

When the building addition is completed early next year, Campbell said, installation forces will start the complicated task of placing hundreds of automatic dial switches, connecting miles of wire and soldering a tremendous number of connections.

"The new building addition and equipment will enable the Telephone Company to provide service for most of the 900 applicants now waiting," Campbell said, "Telephones in the exchange have increased from less than 6,000 four years ago to 13,000 today ..... a gain of 117 per cent ..... and it appears this is only the beginning. We're doing everything possible to provide telephones for those waiting with the least practicable delay.
